Keynote speakers

Prof Tony Lawson (University of Cambridge, UK)

Tony Lawson's primary field of interest is the Philosophy of Social Science, and in particular Social Ontology. Trained as a mathematician, and formerly a member of the Cambridge Growth Project under the leadership of Sir Richard Stone, Lawson is currently Reader in Economics at the University of Cambridge and Professor of Economics at the National University of Ireland, Galway. Lawson has long been highly critical of the course of modern economics. Amongst his numerous publications are the books Economics and Reality (1997) and Reorienting Economics (2007). His various contributions are widely debated in scholarly journals and similar outlets including in Edward Fullbrook's (2009) recent Ontology and Economics: Tony Lawson and his Critics. Lawson sits on numerous Editorial Boards including the Cambridge Journal of Economics, and Feminist Economics. For over twenty years now he has chaired the Cambridge Realist Workshop.

Prof Hugh Willmott (Cardiff University, UK)

Hugh Willmott is a Research Professor in Organisational Studies at Cardiff University. Currently a member of the editorial boards of Academy of Management Review, Journal of Management Studies and Organization Studies, in the past he has been the Associate Editor of Gender, Work and Organization, as well as a member of the editorial boards of Accounting, Organizations and Society and Administrative Science Quarterly. Professor Willmott was a founding member of the journals Accounting, Auditing and Accountability Journal, Advances in Public Interest Accounting, Critical Perspectives in Accounting and Organization.
